

To whom it may concern,Hello, my name is Arthur Godburn and I'd like to make a statement about the limiting of XM radio's traffic stations. For me, it is a matter of safety that there are several sources for traffic and weather available to the public. An example: Schools do not call just one station to give closings due to weather; they have several stations that they call in order that the message be heard. It is not a matter of competition: it is a matter of safety to have as many different kinds of information stations available to people so that problems can be avoided. To deny any service that can aid in the safety of the people is not right. This is the view from one humble Vermonter. Thank you for your time.

Sincerely,
Arthur Godburn
